Hi

I am writing in objection to the proposed 'Warrington Local Plan'.

I have to object to this due to the already large volumes of commuter and logistics traffic. In the era of 'Going Green' it makes absolutely no sense to be losing green belt land, which I find amazing this is considered if I am honest and then adding to that increased traffic. Will this not lead to more flooding if we are to lose these fields to tarmac and concrete? Or is that the plan to push the 'Climate Change' ideology?

Thoughts firmly should be placed into the town centre where work is already going on, improving bus and train routes, people often prefer to travel by car for convenience, why don't you look how to make it convenient to travel by bus?

The new road to Bank Quay doesn't seem to have helped ease the traffic flow either, add to that the new housing sites proposed here is ridiculous.

While you are considering this, please also consider refusing 'The Great Reset'. Thanks very much.

Thanks, Wes.
