To whom it may concern,

The proposed plan to build houses at Thelwall Heys is nothing more than opportunist, as it implies quick and easy access to build first before any other building begins, is this supposed to be a plus? 400 car and or other vehicles moving in, out and around, what a mess!

How, having the history of the battle back in the early 2000's that led in 2006 to the plan being thrown out and the land being left in greenbelt, what has changed?

Thelwall Heys Grade 11 House is of great historical value and the surrounding farm land gives it a perfect setting also there are TWO "right of ways" afforded to the house.

Again, your short-sighted plan is nothing more than a disgrace, I appreciate that lack of knowledge of the site is a factor, the council are once again taking the easy way out you should be standing up to the challenge not folding.

I bet most of you do not even know where the house is, come and see the wild life, Fox, Pheasant, Badger, Hawk, Owl, House Martin, Robin Redbreast, I could go on.

Shame on you all.
